Dear Parents and Carers

North Cockerington Harvest Festival – Thursday 17th October 2019

We warmly invite you to our Harvest Festival on Thursday 17th October at 8.45a.m. in St. Adelwold's Church, Alvingham. All children will need to be taken straight to the church (not to school) on that day. If you cannot transport your child back to school at about 9.30am., after the service, staff will be available to walk children back. Please make sure your child is dressed appropriately.

The paddock will be available for parking if it is dry enough. Please keep cars clear of the entrance to the farm next to the church, so that large farm vehicles can drive in and out. If you can share a car, that would be most helpful.

As usual, during the service, we will be pleased to receive gifts of non-perishable produce, which will be given to support the Community Larder in the Louth area. The most suitable items are: UHT milk, sugar, small-size packets of breakfast cereals/ rice/pasta/teabags, small tins of soup, vegetables, potatoes, rice pudding, custard and small jars of jam/coffee etc. All produce must have long sell-by dates.

An offertory plate will be at the back of the church at the end of the service for any donations.

We look forward to sharing this occasion with you.

Yours sincerely

Becky Dhami
Executive Headteacher
